Fox Valley Technical College is required, in certain circumstances, to verify information that was provided by a student on the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid).

To be eligible for federal student aid, a student must have a high school diploma or its recognized equivalent, or be beyond the age of compulsory attendance and meet the criteria for homeschooled students.

You must submit one of the following to the financial aid office.

1. High school diploma (this can be from a foreign school if it is equivalent to a U.S. high school diploma)
   - For a student who has graduated early and has not yet received a final transcript or diploma, a form will need to be requested from the financial aid office to be completed by the high school principal or guidance counselor confirming you are no longer enrolled; or

2. Recognized Equivalent of a high school diploma
   - An official GED or HSED certificate from the Department of Public Instruction (DPI)
     - If you do not have the original, you will need to request a new certificate from the DPI. Please have this document sent directly to you. You will then need to bring the certificate into one of the offices so that a copy can be made.
     - An official academic transcript indicating completion of at least a two-year program that is acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor’s degree

3. Homeschool credential
   - Submit a transcript or the equivalent signed by your parent or guardian which lists the courses you completed and provides a statement that you successfully completed a secondary school education in a homeschool setting

If you do not have a high school diploma or equivalent, or if you have any questions, please contact the financial aid office at financialaid@fvtc.edu or 920-735-5650.
